

More Than One

That Polly has done it again! As you look through the telescope you can see words in the stars. But wait, these are supposed to be plural words—so add s or es to make each word plural.

Botley Says:

You've been great to stick by my side as we try to get through everything in Mystery Mountain. How about some drawing fun? Draw a picture of each of the plural words above. Don't forget—you'll need two or more of everything because you changed the singular to plural.
